4. Online privacy statement

Personal data

Under the DPPEC (Data Protection, Privacy and Electronic Communications (Amendments etc.) (EU Exit)) Regulations 2019, the UK General Data Protection Regulation (known as UK GDPR) personal data is defined as:

“any information relating to an identified or identifiable natural person ('data subject'); an identifiable natural person is one who can be identified, directly or indirectly, in particular by reference to an identifier such as a name, an identification number, location data, an online identifier or to one or more factors specific to the physical, physiological, genetic, mental, economic, cultural or social identity of that natural person”.

How we use your information

This privacy notice tells you how we, Constant & Co (Bedford) Ltd, will collect and use your personal data. We acquire and use information relating to commercial organisations and individuals for a variety of reasons:

1. Delivery of our services
2. Communications
3. Legal obligations
4. Marketing purposes

If you are requested to provide us with personal information you can of course refuse. If you choose not to provide the data that we require to provide our services then we may not be able to deliver that service for you.

The personal data that we would like to collect from you may include the following:

Contact data: We will request your full name, postal address, phone number and e-mail address.

Special category data: We may request on occasion such data about you that may be necessary to facilitate the execution of our services. This maybe data such as your current health for a vulnerability assessment.

Payment data: Where it is necessary to process your payment, if you are repaying debt or for payments of services supplied to you, then sensitive information, such as your debit card number, security code and cardholders address maybe requested but not stored by us. The payment is processed by our staff using secure processing websites with secure links operated by our approved card merchant service providers. The information is not stored on our systems or held with any of our personnel.

Business and relationships: We may collect such personal information that you provide to us relating to your contacts and business relationships.

Content: We may collect the content of any data files and communications that you may send us for the purposes of carrying out your instruction, together with any relevant physical documents that you may give us as well, when these are necessary to provide you with the offered service. Data we collect may include: address, subject line and body of an email:

- video and/or audio recording of a video message
- site photographs
- written content of a text, similar app or other content of an instant message
- relevant social media messages

We may also collect information that you provide us with regards to client feedback for services provided. This information will be retained in line with our retention policy.

The personal data we collect will be used for the following purposes:

- To carry out our business activities
- To comply with legal and regulatory obligations and requirements
- To enforce using the appropriate legal process
- Update existing information
- Manage our products and services
- Monitor and keep records of communications
- To improve the operations of our business where possible

Our legal basis for processing the personal data:

- To provide products and service
- Legitimate interests
- To comply with legal and regulatory obligations and requirements
- Vulnerability assessments
- Public interest matters

Any legitimate interests pursued by us, or third parties we use, are as follows:

- Develop business partnerships
- To comply with legal and regulatory obligations and requirements

The special categories of personal data concerned are:

- Health information – if it relates to:
 - vulnerability as provided within ‘The Taking Control of Goods Regulations 2013’
 - client requirements for a vulnerability assessment before legitimate removal of trespassers

We collect all forms of data by means of verbal and written communication as well as through the contact icon via ‘contact us’ on our website.

Why does Constant & Co (Bedford) Ltd need to collect and store personal data?

In order for us to provide you with the services we offer we need to collect personal data for:

1. General information processing: though we do not undertake automated decision making or profiling of personal data.
2. Legitimate Business requirements
3. Perform contractual and payment obligations
4. Meet legal obligations and requirements

In any event, we are committed to ensuring that the information we collect and use is appropriate for this purpose, and does not constitute an invasion of your privacy.

In terms of being contacted for marketing purposes Constant & Co (Bedford) Ltd would contact you for additional consent.

Will Constant & Co (Bedford) Ltd share my personal data with anyone else?

We may pass your personal data on to third-party service providers contracted to Constant & Co (Bedford) Ltd in the course of dealing with you. Any third parties that we may share your data with are obliged to keep your details securely, and to use them only to fulfil the service they provide you on our behalf. When they no longer need your data to fulfil this service, they will dispose of the details in line with Constant & Co (Bedford) Ltd’s procedures. If we wish to pass your sensitive personal data onto a third party we will only do so once we have obtained your consent, unless we are legally required to do otherwise.

How will Constant & Co (Bedford) Ltd use the personal data it collects about me?

Constant & Co (Bedford) Ltd will process (collect, store and use) the information you provide in a manner compatible with the EU's General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR). We will endeavour to keep your information accurate and up to date, and not keep it for longer than is necessary. Constant & Co (Bedford) Ltd is required to retain information in accordance with the law, such as information needed for income tax and audit purposes. How long certain kinds of personal data should be kept may also be governed by specific business-sector requirements and agreed practices. Personal data may be held in addition to these periods depending on individual business needs.

Under what circumstances will Constant & Co (Bedford) Ltd contact me?

Our aim is not to be intrusive, and we undertake not to ask irrelevant or unnecessary questions. Moreover, the information you provide will be subject to rigorous measures and procedures to minimise the risk of unauthorised access or disclosure.

Can I find out the personal data that the organisation holds about me?

Constant & Co (Bedford) Ltd at your request, can confirm what information we hold about you and how it is processed. If Constant & Co (Bedford) Ltd does hold personal data about you, you can request the following information:

- Identity the contact details of the person or organisation that has determined how and why to process your data. In some cases, this will be a representative in the EU.
- Contact details of the data protection officer, where applicable.
- The purpose of the processing as well as the legal basis for processing.
- If the processing is based on the legitimate interests of Constant & Co (Bedford) Ltd or a third party, information about those interests.
- The categories of personal data collected, stored and processed.
- Recipient(s) or categories of recipients that the data is/will be disclosed to.
- If we intend to transfer the personal data to a third country or international organisation, information about how we ensure this is done securely. The EU has approved sending personal data to some countries because they meet a minimum standard of data protection. In other cases, we will ensure there are specific measures in place to secure your information.
- How long the data will be stored.
- Details of your rights to correct, erase, restrict or object to such processing.
- Information about your right to withdraw consent at any time.
- How to lodge a complaint with the supervisory authority.
- Whether the provision of personal data is a statutory or contractual requirement, or a requirement necessary to enter into a contract, as well as whether you are obliged to provide the personal data and the possible consequences of failing to provide such data.
- The source of personal data if it wasn't collected directly from you.
- Any details and information of automated decision making, such as profiling, and any meaningful information about the logic involved, as well as the significance and expected consequences of such processing.

What forms of ID will I need to provide in order to access this?

Constant & Co (Bedford) Ltd accepts the following forms of ID when information on your personal data is requested:

Passport, driving licence, birth certificate, utility bill (from last 3 months), etc.

5. Cookie Policy

Our website does use cookies for the purposes of analytics. A detailed outline of cookies is listed below:

About cookies

A cookie is a file containing an identifier (a string of letters and numbers) that is sent by a web server to a web browser and is stored by the browser. The identifier is then sent back to the server each time the browser requests a page from the server.

Cookies may be either "persistent" cookies or "session" cookies: a persistent cookie will be stored by a web browser and will remain valid until its set expiry date, unless deleted by the user before the expiry date; a session cookie, on the other hand, will expire at the end of the user session, when the web browser is closed.

Cookies do not typically contain any information that personally identifies a user, but personal information that we store about you may be linked to the information stored in and obtained from cookies.

Cookies that we do and do not use

We do and do not use cookies for the following purposes:

- (a) authentication - we do not use cookies to identify you when you visit our website and as you navigate our website
- (b) status - we do not use cookies to help us to determine if you are logged into our website
- (c) personalisation – we do not use cookies to store information about your preferences and to personalise the website for you
- (d) security - we do not use cookies, as an element of the security measures used to protect user accounts, including preventing fraudulent use of login credentials, and to protect our website and services generally, as we do not have these credentials located anywhere
- (e) advertising - we do not use cookies to help us to display advertisements that will be relevant to you
- (f) analysis - we do use cookies to help us to analyse the use and performance of our website and services. Cookies used for this purpose are listed in the table below
- (g) cookie consent - we do use cookies to store your preferences in relation to the use of cookies more generally. Cookies used for this purpose are listed in the table below.

Cookies used by our service providers

Our service providers use cookies and those cookies may be stored on your computer when you visit our website.

We use Google Analytics to analyse the use of our website. Google Analytics gathers information about website use by means of cookies. The information gathered relating to our website is used to create reports about the use of our website. Google's privacy policy is available at: <https://www.google.com/policies/privacy/>.
